Dear Miss Parloot,

Since a long time I have been planning to write to you and not knowing your address I wrote to Mr. G. Hermann. He lives in New York. He told me that I might contact you at the Conservatory of Music in Toronto, and now I am so glad to know your whereabouts that I want to congratulate you with your special birthday, about which I saw an article in our newspapers.

Because possibly you might not remember me I first will introduce myself anew after the 30 years that have elapsed since we met. I was one of your greatest admirers, member of the Amsterdam Concertgebouw-Orchestra often sat next to your accompanist when you performed in Holland. I have still all the programs and the first concert was in May '08 in the Dutch Theatre (which became during the war a temporary place of confinement for the Jews, before they were sent to Poland by the Germans). I enjoyed your concerts very much. I was very young and it is often said the first impressions
